Date: 29.08.2017

Press Release

As per the directions of Election Commission of India, the electoral databases of all the States are being unified under a system called “ERO-Net”. Accordingly, Tamil Nadu has handed over the electoral database on 07.08.2017 for the unification.

There are many advantages of unifying the databases across India. The deletion of the name of an elector who has shifted to another constituency of another State can be done seamlessly.
